

Dear Families,

We hope you are enjoying this lovely warm weather! The children are certainly making the most of it during playtimes. With the forecast predicting sunshine for the next few weeks, we kindly ask that you apply sunscreen to your child before school each day. Children are also welcome to wear sun hats to help keep them cool and protected.

We had a fantastic day today with a special drumming workshop delivered by Status Quo drummer Jeff Rich. The workshop was partially funded by York Music Hub, and the children were absolutely thrilled to participate. A big thank you to Mrs. Martin for organising this inspiring event! All the children received a signed autograph as a memento of this special day.

Looking ahead, next week the school will be learning about the importance of VE Day. We will be commemorating this significant day with a whole-school celebration on Thursday, May 8th. Children are invited to wear red, white, or blue to show their support and will be taking part in a range of activities throughout the day.

We hope you all have a lovely Bank Holiday weekend!

Have a lovely weekend Mrs Robinson
